Your request was received in the Office of the Secretary FOIA office on June 24, 2019, and assigned control number OS-2019-01000. Please cite this number in any future communications with our office regarding your request.

We are writing today to provide a response to the first part of your request. Please find enclosed 1 file containing 88 pages of responsive records. 66 pages are released in their entirety and 22 pages contained information redacted as described below.

Portions of the enclosed documents have been redacted pursuant to Exemption 5 of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(5)) under the following privileges:

Confidential Commercial Information

Exemption 5 allows an agency to withhold “inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party... in litigation with the agency” 5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(5). As such, the Exemption 5 “exempt[s] those documents... normally privileged in the civil discovery context.” National Labor Relations Bd. v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 421 U.S. 132, 149 (1975). The exemption incorporates the privileges that protect materials from discovery in litigation. These privileges include deliberative process, confidential commercial information, attorney work-product, and attorney-client. See id.; see also Federal Open Market Committee v. Merrill, 443 U.S. 340, 363 (1979) (finding a confidential commercial information privilege under Exemption 5).

Confidential Commercial Information Privilege

When the government enters the marketplace as an ordinary commercial buyer or seller, the government information is protected from competitive disadvantage under Exemption 5. Government Land Bank v. General Services Administration, 671 F.2d 663, 665 (1st Cir. 1982). Exemption 5 prevails “where the document contains ‘sensitive information not otherwise available,’ and disclosure would significantly harm the government’s commercial interest.” Id. at 666; see also Merrill, 443 U.S. at 363.

Pursuant to the confidential commercial information privilege, conference call codes and passcodes have been withheld under Exemption 5. This information constitutes “intra-agency” documents because they are only shared with members of the Department of the Interior for the purpose of conducting official government business. Moreover, this information qualifies as “confidential commercial information” because the government entered the marketplace as an ordinary commercial buyer.

In line with Land Bank and Merrill, the information is “sensitive and not otherwise available.” If the information was released, the government’s financial interest would be significantly harmed. The conference calls would no longer be private since unknown, non-governmental parties would have the ability to listen in to the calls. The funds spent on purchasing the information would therefore be wasted, and the information would be of no use.

Because we reasonably foresee that the release of this information would significantly harm the government’s financial interest by publicizing sensitive information, the Office of the Secretary is withholding it in accordance with Exemption 5 of the FOIA.

Portions of the uploaded documents have been redacted pursuant to Exemption 6 of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(6)) because they fit certain categories of information:

Personal email addresses
Personal telephone numbers

Exemption 6 allows an agency to withhold “personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” The courts have held that the phrase “similar files” involves all information that applies to a particular person. Hertzberg v. Veneman, 273 F. Supp. 2d 67, 85 n.11 (D.D.C. 2003).

To determine whether releasing requested information would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, we are required to perform a “balancing test.” This means that we must weigh the individual’s right to privacy against the public’s right to disclosure.

- (1) First, we must determine whether the individual has a discernible privacy interest in the information that has been requested.
- (2) Next, we must determine whether release of this information would serve “the public interest generally” (i.e., would “shed light on the performance of the agency’s statutory duties”).
- (3) Finally, we must determine whether the public interest in disclosure is greater than the privacy interest of the individual in withholding.

The information that we are withholding consists of personal information, and we have determined that the individuals to whom this information pertains have a substantial privacy interest in it. Additionally, we have determined that the disclosure of this information would shed little or no light on the performance of the agency’s statutory duties and that, on balance, the public interest to be served by its disclosure does not outweigh the privacy interest of the individuals in question, in withholding it. Nat'l Ass'n of Retired Fed. Employees v. Horner, 879 F.2d 873, 879 (D.C. Cir. 1989).

In summation, we have determined that release of the information that we have withheld would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of the privacy of these individuals, and that it therefore may be withheld, pursuant to Exemption 6. Moreover, we reasonably foresee that disclosure would harm an interested protected by Exemption 6.

Tony Irish, Attorney- Advisor with the Office of the Solicitor, was consulted in reaching this decision. Clarice Julka, FOIA Officer, is responsible for making this decision.

We have classified your request as an “other-use request.” As an “other-use requester” you are entitled to up to 2 hours of search time and 100 pages of photocopies before being charged for the processing of FOIA requests. As a matter of policy, however, the Department of the Interior does not bill requesters for FOIA fees incurred in processing requests when their fees do not exceed $50.00 because the cost of collection would be greater than the fee collected. (See 43 C.F.R. §§ 2.39, 2.49(a)(1)).

Because your entitlements as an “other-use requester” (see 43 C.F.R. § 2.39) were sufficient to cover all applicable FOIA charges, there is no billable fee for the processing of this request.

Appeals

You may appeal this decision to the Department's FOIA Appeals Officer. The FOIA Appeals Officer must receive your FOIA appeal no later than 90 workdays from the date of this final letter responding to your FOIA request. Appeals arriving or delivered after 5 PM Eastern time, Monday through Friday, will be deemed received on the next workday. Your appeal must be in writing and addressed to:

FOIA Appeals Officer
U.S. Department of the Interior
1849 C Street, N.W., MS 6556
Washington, D.C. 20240

Fax: 202-208-6677

E-mail: FOIA.Appeals@sol.doi.gov

You must include with your appeal copies of all correspondence between you and the Office of the Secretary concerning your FOIA request, including a copy of your original FOIA request and the denial letter. Failure to include this documentation with your appeal will result in the Department's rejection of your appeal. All communications concerning your appeal, including envelopes, should be clearly marked with the words "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION APPEAL." Your letter should include in as much detail as possible any reason(s) why you believe the Office of the Secretary's response is in error. For more information on FOIA Administrative Appeals, you may review Subpart H of the Department's FOIA regulations, 43 C.F.R. Part 2, Subpart H.

For your information, Congress excluded three discrete categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIA. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(c). This response is limited to those records that are subject to the requirements of the FOIA. This is a standard notification that is given to all our requesters and should not be taken as an indication that excluded records do, or do not, exist.

As part of the 2007 FOIA amendments, the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) was created to offer mediation services to resolve disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation. Using OGIS services does not affect your right to pursue litigation. If you are requesting access to your own records (which is considered a Privacy Act request), you should know that OGIS does not have the authority to handle requests made under the Privacy Act of 1974. You may contact OGIS in any of the following ways:

Office of Government Information Services (OGIS)
National Archives and Records Administration
8601 Adelphi Road
College Park, MD 20740-6001
E-mail: ogis@nara.gov
Web: <https://ogis.archives.gov>
Telephone: 202-741-5770
Toll-free: 1-877-684-6448

Once we have completed the search for the second part of your request, we will provide a final response. If you have any questions about our response to your request, you may contact Justin Davis by phone 202-513-0765, by fax at 202-219-2374, by email at osfoia@ios.doi.gov, or by mail at U.S. Department of the Interior, 1849 C Street, NW, MS-7328, Washington, D.C. 20240

Subject: Governor John Hickenlooper's Former Chief of Staff – Doug Friednash – Returns to Brownstein

Governor John Hickenlooper's Former Chief of Staff – Doug Friednash – Returns to Brownstein

Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck is pleased to announce that Douglas "Doug" J. Friednash, one of Denver's leading attorneys, has returned to the firm as a shareholder after nearly three years as Colorado Gov. John Hickenlooper's chief of staff. A Denver native, Friednash joins the firm's nationally renowned Government Relations Department and will chair a new, national political strategies practice group that will coalesce the firm's ability to solve policy, regulatory and legal problems for the firm's clients.

"Our firm was built on a commitment to public service and we're delighted to welcome Doug back to the firm following the tremendous contributions he made to Colorado as Governor Hickenlooper's chief of staff," said Adam Agron, Brownstein's managing partner. "As an attorney who has spent his entire career operating at the intersection of business, law and politics, Doug has much to contribute to our firm and our clients."

Since January 2015, Friednash served as chief of staff to Gov. Hickenlooper. In this role, he served as the lead staff member of the administration and oversaw the management of state agencies, advised the governor and cabinet members on key issues and provided crisis management leadership, helped to fill critical positions within the cabinet and senior staff and was responsible for implementing Gov. Hickenlooper's statewide policy and legislative initiatives.

"We will miss Doug greatly and wish him much success as he returns to the career he loves," said Gov. Hickenlooper. "There's no role a governor values more than that of the chief of staff. Doug brought critical experience and guidance to our team."

Prior to his role at the governor's office, Friednash served as a shareholder in Brownstein's Government Relations Department where he worked on several high-level legal and government affairs issues, including negotiating a deal that brought Panasonic Enterprise Solutions to Denver's aerotropolis (airport city).

Before joining Brownstein in 2013, Friednash spent two years serving as Denver's city attorney, managing more than 100 attorneys and 90 staff members including paralegals, victim advocates, and other support and supervisory staff members. His team supported the mayor, auditor, the Clerk and Recorder, City Council and all city agencies, departments, boards and commissions from Denver International Airport to the Denver Police Department. In this role, he represented Mayor Michael Hancock in all matters involving the administration as well as municipal operations, litigation and airport legal services.

Before joining Mayor Hancock's team, Friednash was a shareholder at Greenberg Traurig, where he represented clients in governmental matters and election issues. He was lead counsel in Ritchie v. Ritter, where he represented a coalition of groups challenging the constitutionality of Colorado's Amendment 54, and was counsel to Mark Udall's campaign for U.S. Senate.

Previously, he served as lead counsel to the First Amendment Council, a coalition of Colorado-based individuals, nonprofit corporations and businesses that challenged the constitutionality of Amendment 41 in Developmental Pathways v. Ritter. Friednash also handled campaign finance litigation, successfully defending a campaign finance case filed by Clear the Bench against the Colorado Bar Association, University of Denver and League of Women Voters. Friednash successfully represented Congressman Mike Coffman in defense of ethics charges brought by Colorado Ethics Watch. He has also represented numerous candidate, political and issue campaigns. Prior to that, Friednash worked on the Dukakis presidential campaign in 1987 and 1988 before returning to Colorado to work in the Colorado Attorney General's Office, Criminal Enforcement Section. In 1992, he was elected to the Colorado House of Representatives where he served two terms.

Friednash has received numerous recognitions including University of Colorado School of Law's Pay It Forward Award (2014), National Hispanic Bar Association's Diversity and Inclusion Award (2013), America's Leading Business Lawyers, Chambers USA (2011, 2010), Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce's Chamber Champion (2011), Denver Business Journal's Power Book Award – Law Category (2011), Law Week Colorado's Best Government Lawyer, Barrister's Best (2009-2010) and Law Week Colorado's Lawyer of the Year (2009).

In addition to his commitment as an attorney, Friednash has a long history of giving back to the community through his efforts with numerous university and nonprofit organizations.

Good afternoon all,

On behalf of the organizations listed below, I want to share the attached letter on the Department of the Interior's mitigation policies. The letter was submitted through regulations.gov in response to the Federal Register notice on DOI Regulatory Reform. We greatly appreciate your continued efforts on this important topic, and we're happy to answer any questions you may have.

Mr. David Bernhardt
Deputy Secretary
U.S. Department of the Interior
1859 C Street, NW
Washington D.C. 20240

Dear. Mr. Bernhardt,

We would like thank you and the Department of the Interior (DOI) for recent actions that rescinded and revised mitigation policies that far exceeded statutory authority. The oil and natural gas industry continues to follow the statutory mitigation hierarchy to avoid, minimize, rectify, reduce and compensate for the impacts to lands and natural resources from energy development that powers our Nation. We look forward to working with DOI in developing reasonable mitigation policies that allow for the proper balance of species and habitat conservation with responsible resource development.

The trades represented on this letter collectively represent the oil and natural gas industry across the United States at the national, regional, and state level. Our member companies operate on federal, state, and private lands and interact with various DOI agencies, primarily the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service (FWS) as it relates to mitigation policies.

As you know, on March 28, 2017, President Trump issued an Executive Order (EO) on Promoting Energy Independence and Economic Growth. The EO rescinded several orders, memoranda, and reports issued under the previous administration and directed a review of climate change and mitigation policies across the federal government.

We specifically support the EO's rescission of the November 3, 2015 Presidential Memorandum on Mitigating Impacts on Natural Resources from Development and Encouraging Related Private Investment (Presidential Memorandum). The Presidential Memorandum directed federal agencies to implement a litany of additional policies that introduced regulatory and cost uncertainty that prevent, increase the cost of, or delay responsible resource development.

Pursuant to the EO, DOI has issued two secretarial orders (SO). Secretarial Order 3349, issued in March 2017, overturned a previous SO on mitigation policies at DOI and ordered a broad review of the Department's framework for mitigation. In December, Secretarial Order 3360 rescinded the following policies:

- Departmental Manual Part 523, Chapter 1: Climate Change Policy
- Departmental Manual Part 600, Chapter 6: Landscape-Scale Mitigation Policy
- Bureau of Land Management, Manual Section 1794 – Mitigation
- Bureau of Land Management, Mitigation Handbook H-1794-1.

We wish to reiterate our support for the rescission of these policies, which exceeded statutory authority and placed undue burdens on domestic energy development. In addition, there are mitigation policies in place at DOI that, despite exceeding statutory authority, continue to be used by state and local field offices which are directly impacting the industry's ability to move forward with responsible development. Below we have listed several of these policies that remain in place which we believe are ripe for review and rescission pursuant to the previous SOs.

These documents were not adopted through a formal rulemaking process with attendant notice and comment in the Federal Register, so they are subject to immediate withdrawal and replacement where appropriate:

- Landscape-Scale Mitigation in NEPA Analysis, Decision-Making and Implementation Monitoring, Environmental Statement Memorandum No. 16-2, issued June 21, 2016
- FWS Greater Sage-Grouse Range-Wide Mitigation Framework, issued September 3, 2014
- Interim Guidance on Implementing the Final Endangered Species Act Compensatory Mitigation Policy, issued January 17, 2017
- Policy Regarding Voluntary Prelisting Conservation Actions, Director's Order No. 2018, issued January 18, 2017.

Separately, we believe the Joint USFWS and National Marine Fisheries Service Habitat Conservation Planning Handbook, issued December 21, 2016, should be reviewed and revised. The Handbook was enacted under the formal rulemaking process.

Finally, BLM and FWS have announced that the following policies are under review and are likely to be revised. The trades submitted comments on each of the Federal Register notices accompanying these announcements, and we look forward to working with the agencies as they develop revised documents.

- FWS Endangered Species Act Compensatory Mitigation Policy, issued December 27, 2016
- FWS Mitigation Policy, issued November 21, 2016
- Revisions to the Regulations for Candidate Conservation Agreements with Assurances, issued December 27, 2016
- BLM's Land Use Plan Amendments for the Greater Sage-Grouse, issued September 24, 2015

The trades are currently working with member companies to develop a document outlining our principles for the future of mitigation. Companies do extensive mitigation work prior to, during, and after project development. In addition, companies employ extensive avoidance and minimization practices, which in many cases should be regarded as mitigation. We are gathering success stories and approaches to mitigation that we believe would benefit FWS, BLM, and DOI as new policies are developed. We will share this document in a follow-up letter in the near future.

Once again, we greatly appreciate DOI's review and development of mitigation policies as part of its goal of achieving energy dominance. We look forward to continued collaboration on this issue, and we are always willing to discuss mitigation in more detail at your convenience.

Sincerely,

I respectfully request the attached article be shared with every member of the royalty advisory policy committee to illustrate that not only is Mexico a new deepwater competitor to the USA but given the energy minister's comments about Brazil and Argentina, it is clear Mexico recognizes competition is around the globe. The USA Gulf of Mexico royalty policy must reflect our understanding that companies have more provinces to deploy their capital today than just a few years ago. We all know this is not your grandfather's offshore industry but we must wake up to recognize the impact of the many changes, in other provinces, in just the last few years and consequently embrace the fact that this is not even your older sibling's oil and gas industry. Things have changed that fast and we are no longer the only game in town. We must remain competitive to attract capital and thus production and thus royalty and thus jobs. Competitive Royalty rates are one way to do that. Thanks for your service.

Mr. David Bernhardt

Dear. Mr. Bernhardt,

We would like thank you and the Department of the Interior (DOI) for recent actions that rescinded and revised mitigation policies that far exceeded statutory authority. The oil and natural gas industry continues to follow the statutory mitigation hierarchy to avoid, minimize, rectify, reduce and compensate for the impacts to lands and natural resources from energy development that powers our Nation. Our member companies operate on federal, state, and private lands and interact with various DOI agencies, primarily the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service (FWS) as it relates to mitigation policies.

As you know, on March 28, 2017, President Trump issued an Executive Order (EO) on Promoting Energy Independence and Economic Growth. The EO rescinded several orders, memoranda, and reports issued under the previous administration and directed a review of climate change and mitigation policies across the federal government.

We specifically support the EO's rescission of the November 3, 2015 Presidential Memorandum on Mitigating Impacts on Natural Resources from Development and Encouraging Related Private Investment (Presidential Memorandum). The Presidential Memorandum directed federal agencies to implement a litany of additional policies that introduced regulatory and cost uncertainty that prevent, increase the cost of, or delay responsible resource development.

Pursuant to the EO, DOI has issued two secretarial orders (SO). Secretarial Order 3349, issued in March 2017, overturned a previous SO on mitigation policies at DOI and ordered a broad review of the Department's framework for mitigation. In December, Secretarial Order 3360 rescinded the following policies:

- Departmental Manual Part 523, Chapter 1: Climate Change Policy
- Departmental Manual Part 600, Chapter 6: Landscape-Scale Mitigation Policy
- Bureau of Land Management, Manual Section 1794 – Mitigation

- Policy Regarding Voluntary Prelisting Conservation Actions, Director's Order No. 2018, issued January 18, 2017.

Separately, we believe the Joint USFWS and National Marine Fisheries Service Habitat Conservation Planning Handbook, issued December 21, 2016, should be reviewed and revised. The Handbook was enacted under the formal rulemaking process.

Finally, BLM and FWS have announced that the following policies are under review and are likely to be revised. The trades submitted comments on each of the Federal Register notices accompanying these announcements, and we look forward to working with the agencies as they develop revised documents.

- FWS Endangered Species Act Compensatory Mitigation Policy, issued December 27, 2016

Loved this story and the pictures from Secretary Zinke's trip to Montana!!!

On First Trip as Interior Secretary, Zinke Vows to Reorganize Department

Whitefish native Ryan Zinke visits Glacier National Park to discuss infrastructure maintenance backlog

BY JUSTIN FRANZ // MAR 10, 2017 // NEWS & FEATURES

WEST GLACIER — Nine days after being sworn in as the 52nd Secretary of the Interior, Ryan Zinke made his first official trip from Washington D.C. to a familiar place: Glacier National Park.

The Whitefish native, tapped by President Donald Trump to lead the agency that oversees 500 million acres of federal public lands, met with National Park Service employees on March 10 to talk about his hopes and goals for the next four years. Chief among those priorities is a “21st century reorganization” of the Department of Interior.

“We need to be bold and look at what the Department of Interior will be 100 years from now,” he said.

During his visit on Friday, Zinke met with Glacier Park Superintendent Jeff Mow to discuss the backlog of maintenance within the park. According to Zinke, there is $12 billion worth of deferred maintenance within the park system, including $125 million in Glacier Park. Much of that is related to roads and bridges. Among the infrastructure priorities within Glacier National Park is the reopening of the Inside North Fork Road, part of which was washed out and never repaired a few years ago.

Zinke said that he and the president want to tackle the National Park Service’s infrastructure needs to ensure that it can handle a growing number of visitors. In 2016, more than 330 million people visited a national park, up 7.7 percent from the previous year.

“The president supports the fact that our parks are the face of the Department of the Interior,” Zinke said. “We want to make sure the visitor experience is world-class.”

Other goals of Zinke’s proposed reorganization — which he said he plans to roll out in the next six to eight months — include rebuilding relations with land users and listening more to local land managers.

“If you don’t know the difference between the Potomac, the Yellowstone or the Middle Fork, you probably shouldn’t be making decisions that impact those places,” he said. “I’m going to push as much authority as I can back to the front lines.”

At the core of Zinke’s proposed reorganization would be ensuring that the many agencies under the Interior’s umbrella work well together and better utilize assets, particularly when it comes to tasks like fighting wildfires.

Zinke also discussed the importance of utilizing technology to reach out to young people to help develop another generation of dedicated land stewards. He said expanding wireless Internet services within the parks could be part of that strategy.

Aside from meeting with NPS employees, Zinke met with the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council and received a traditional blessing from the tribe. Chairman Harry Barnes said the members talked to Zinke about the importance of the Blackfeet water compact and the Badger-Two Medicine, a sacred area in the Lewis and Clark National Forest between the Blackfeet Indian Reservation and Glacier National Park. The Blackfeet have spent years trying to dissolve a series of gas and oil leases in the Badger-Two Medicine. The final remaining lease is the subject of a court battle, and Barnes said if the court rules in favor of the owner, Solenex LLC, he hopes the Department of Interior would file an appeal.

“We’ve been trying to protect the Badger-Two Medicine for 30 years and we’re not about to lose it,” Barnes said.

Prior to departing his meeting with NPS employees, Zinke reiterated how excited he was to be the new Secretary of the Interior and that he was ready for the task ahead.

“I grew up in Whitefish and hiked most of these hills here in Glacier National Park, so I think I’m up to the task of making sure I articulate how important it is to have recreational opportunities on our public lands,” he said.

This is exciting!

Hi Holly,

Hope you had a nice weekend. I wanted to circle back on an email I sent this weekend and share the three tentative meetings I have scheduled thus far for tomorrow. Please let me know if there are any issues or conflicts; if not, I will confirm these immediately.

Tuesday, May 9

8:15-8:45am: Senator Cory Gardner (R-CO), 354 Russell Senate Office Building

10:30-11:00am: Senator Steve Daines (R-MT), 320 Hart Senate Office Building

11:15-11:45am: Senator Mike Lee (R-UT), 361A Russell Senate Office Building

Thank you,
Amanda
